

OVERDOSE RESPONSE STRATEGY

PUBLIC HEALTH | PUBLIC SAFETY | PARTNERSHIP

NY ORS Team Highlights

New York ORS Team Participates in the Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program at Syracuse University

December 2025

The New York ORS team, Drug Intelligence Officer (DIO) Jim Hawley and Public Health Analyst (PHA) Lisa Worden, participated in the Humphrey Fellowship Program at Syracuse University which welcomed several fellows for a three-day visit to the New York/New Jersey HIDTA. The program brought together 20 senior law enforcement and drug policy leaders from nine countries for a U.S.-based exchange focused on best practices in addressing illicit drug trafficking and advancing collaborative overdose prevention strategies. Fellows also explored cross-sector collaborations, data-driven strategies and innovative initiatives, such as the Leave-Behind Naloxone program and the Overdose Detection Mapping Application Program (ODMAP). ORS staff and partners highlighted recovery-oriented care and the integration of public health approaches within law enforcement. The NY ORS team continues to foster global learning, collaboration and strategies to reduce overdoses and build community trust worldwide.